USING COGNATES

Now you will practice using cognates to read an authentic text and answer some questions. On the reverse is an exhibit guide from the zoo in Madrid, Spain. Use the zoo guide to answer the following questions. The questions are in English, so you should answer them in English.

From what two continents are the animals in this section of the guide?

If you want to go see the gorillas and chimpanzees, you would need to find exhibit number _____.

If you want to go see the types of cats that you might see on safari in Kenya, you would need to find exhibit number _____.

True or false? There are elephants from both continents in this zoo.

What country is the Asian panther from? _____

How many different types of zebra can be found in this zoo? _____

You can see the oso polar in exhibit 58. The word polar is a cognate. What do you think the word oso means?

Aside from the words that you have used to answer the above questions, list one other Spanish cognate from the guide, then give its English translation.
